summer was held Sunday at Park church with Rev. Brownell Gage occupying the pulpit.

Mr. Gage took as his text the 12th chapter of Paul's epistle to the Romans, 21st verse: Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with road. The last of the union services of the mans, 21st verse: Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good.

There are three kinds of evil in the world and three ways of meeting it. The first evil is that of the spirit of hatred and enmity, malice and the will to work harm and evil and suffering. The second evil is the abstract evil of misfortune, sorrow and suffering. The third is the evil of sin which came his source of strength. That of our daily life and act upon each other.

There are three distinct ways of meeting these evils. The first is the negative way of non-resistance and being overcome by them. Or we may take the way of fighting and using evil's own weapons, turning them against it. The final way is to overcome evil with good.

In Paul's letter his allusion was to the first form of evil, the active hatred and enmity of an enemy, but his words may apply to evil in general.

Although this thought was not original with Paul or with Jesus, the first perfect fulfillment of it was in Jesus.

What is the principle in this? What can our enemy do to us? There may be the personal side, the injury to me personally, to my country, my friends, my feelings. The wounds to my soul, the central purpose of life, and my feelings. The wounds to my soul, the central purpose of life, and my feelings. The wounds to my soul, the central purpose of life, and my feelings. The wounds to my soul, the central purpose of life, and my feelings with God may be overthe central purpose of life, and my fellowship with God may be over-wholming. It requires philosophy to realize that when my enemy steals my purse he steals trash and in stealing my reputation he does not enrich him-my reputation he does not enrich himself and we may yet be triumphant. Only by the poison of his own harred has he injured me vitally.

We sometimes think of Paul's remedy as the refinement of punishment and hatred, the heaping of coals of fire on the enemy's head. Such was not his meaning, however. His thought was to meet poison and hatred with real love and overcome until he is won. Thas was Jesus' wav. He won his enemies by the power of his love. Can we change an enemy into a friend? With the Juggernaut car of pain and suffering we may let it pass

They did more in a little time than as if a The bill, which was introduced in both houses of congress simultaneously, represents a very careful study of the whole problem of possible dependency as a result of the war and a conscientious estimate of the government's recognition of its responsibility.

As drawn, the bill is an amendment to the act establishing the bureau of war risk insurance and adds to the functions of this bureau the administration of family allowances and al-lotments to dependents, of compensa-tion for death or disability, and of life insurance for men in the military or

"The bili is intended to meet those secontal and fundamental principles of justice which you have so much at of justice which you have so much at heart. Its main purpose is to grant a reasonable government indemnity against the losses and risks incurred in the discharge of a patriotic duty and in the performance of an extraorinarily hazardous service to which he government has called and forced the citizen. It provides not only for the man but for his family.

"It aims to accomplish these ends by granting a reasonable measure of indemnity against risk of loss: (1) of support of the bread-winner; (2) of life and limb, (3) of present insurability at ordinary rates. "The risk of dependency, in the case of an enlisted man's family, is in-demnified against by allotment of part of the pay of the enlisted man, sup-plemented by a family allowance granted and paid by the government This system, as explained, means that the enlisted man shares with the government in providing for the financial needs of his family. The compulsory allotments from the enlisted man's pay must equal the family alowance from the government, with a minimum, however, of $15, monthly, and a maximum of one-half pay. There is a scale of allowances delirmined by the size of the dependent family, so that the month! allowance ranges from $5 to cording to the number of dependents and more fervent his week of retreat the better will be be fitted to work in the parish during the year to come. The gospel for the day, the thirtwo weeks to be especially devoted to the service of God, in retirement from the world and temporal interests.

The gospel for the day, the thirteenth Sunday after Pentecost, was Luke xwii: 11-19, the parable of the healing of the ten lepers. Father Gally vin's theme was the ingratitude of men exceeding that of even the nine lepers, since man forgets to give thanks and service to God, although he has been cleansed from the leprosy of sin in the very heart's blood of his Lord.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26.—It is a matter of importance to the Red Cross that, at the instance of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, a comprehensive measure providing for the financial assistance of the families of American soldiers and sailors has been introduced in congress.

Henry P. Davison, chairman, on behalf of the Red Cross War Council, recently authorized the following:

"Obviously the task of providing for the financial assistance of the families of our soldiers and sailors is so large that the government alone can assume it. In no other way can the burden be discharged fairly and as a matter of right rather than charity. No voluntary organization, or organizations, could adequately cope with a duty of such magnitude."

The bill, which was introduced in both houses of congress simultaneous-ly represents a very careful study of liverpresents a very careful nary rates is indemnified against and is a large item in the premium charges of private companies."
With these "loading" expenses eliminated, Secretary McAdoo says an insurance costing during the war an average of $8 per $1,000 can be provided, thus, bringing even the maximum of $10,000 insurance to only $80 a year premium—a charge within the reach of practically every private, After the war the insurance may be converted into other forms with earlier maturity, the premiums to be
